

Got invasives? Do you work to control invasive plants in your woodlands? If so, we'd like to hear from you! A team of researchers from Virginia Tech and the Virginia Cooperative Extension want to learn from your experiences trying to control invasive plants in your woodlands.

Please follow this link to complete a brief questionnaire. Your opinions will help educators, conservation professionals, and decision-makers better understand landowner's views toward invasive species, ultimately benefiting Virginia's forests. Click here to begin the survey. Thank you for your help!